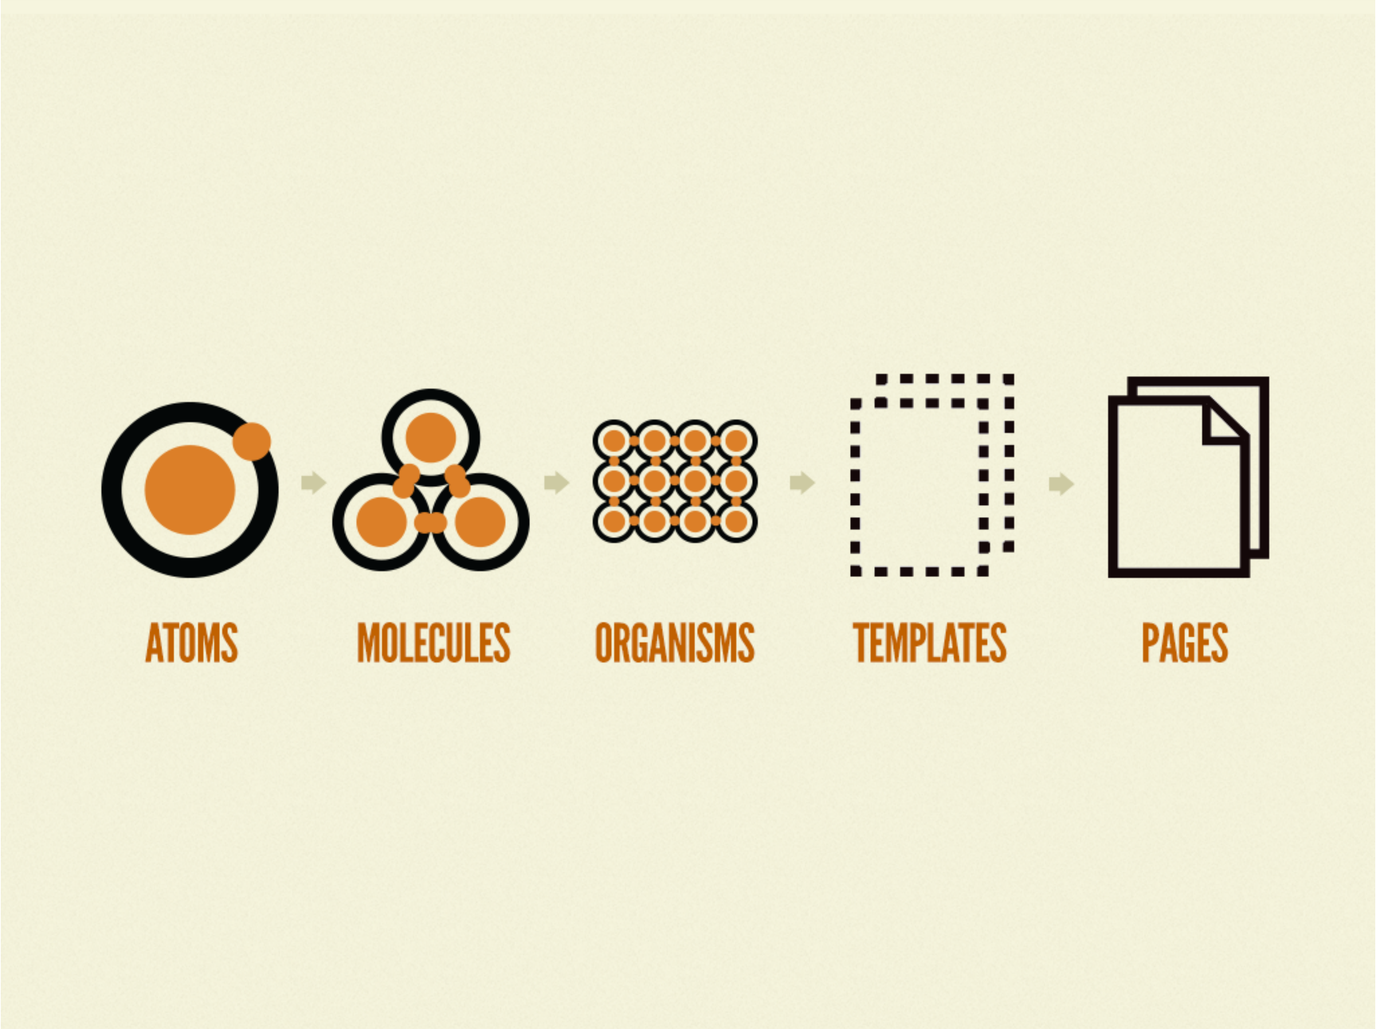
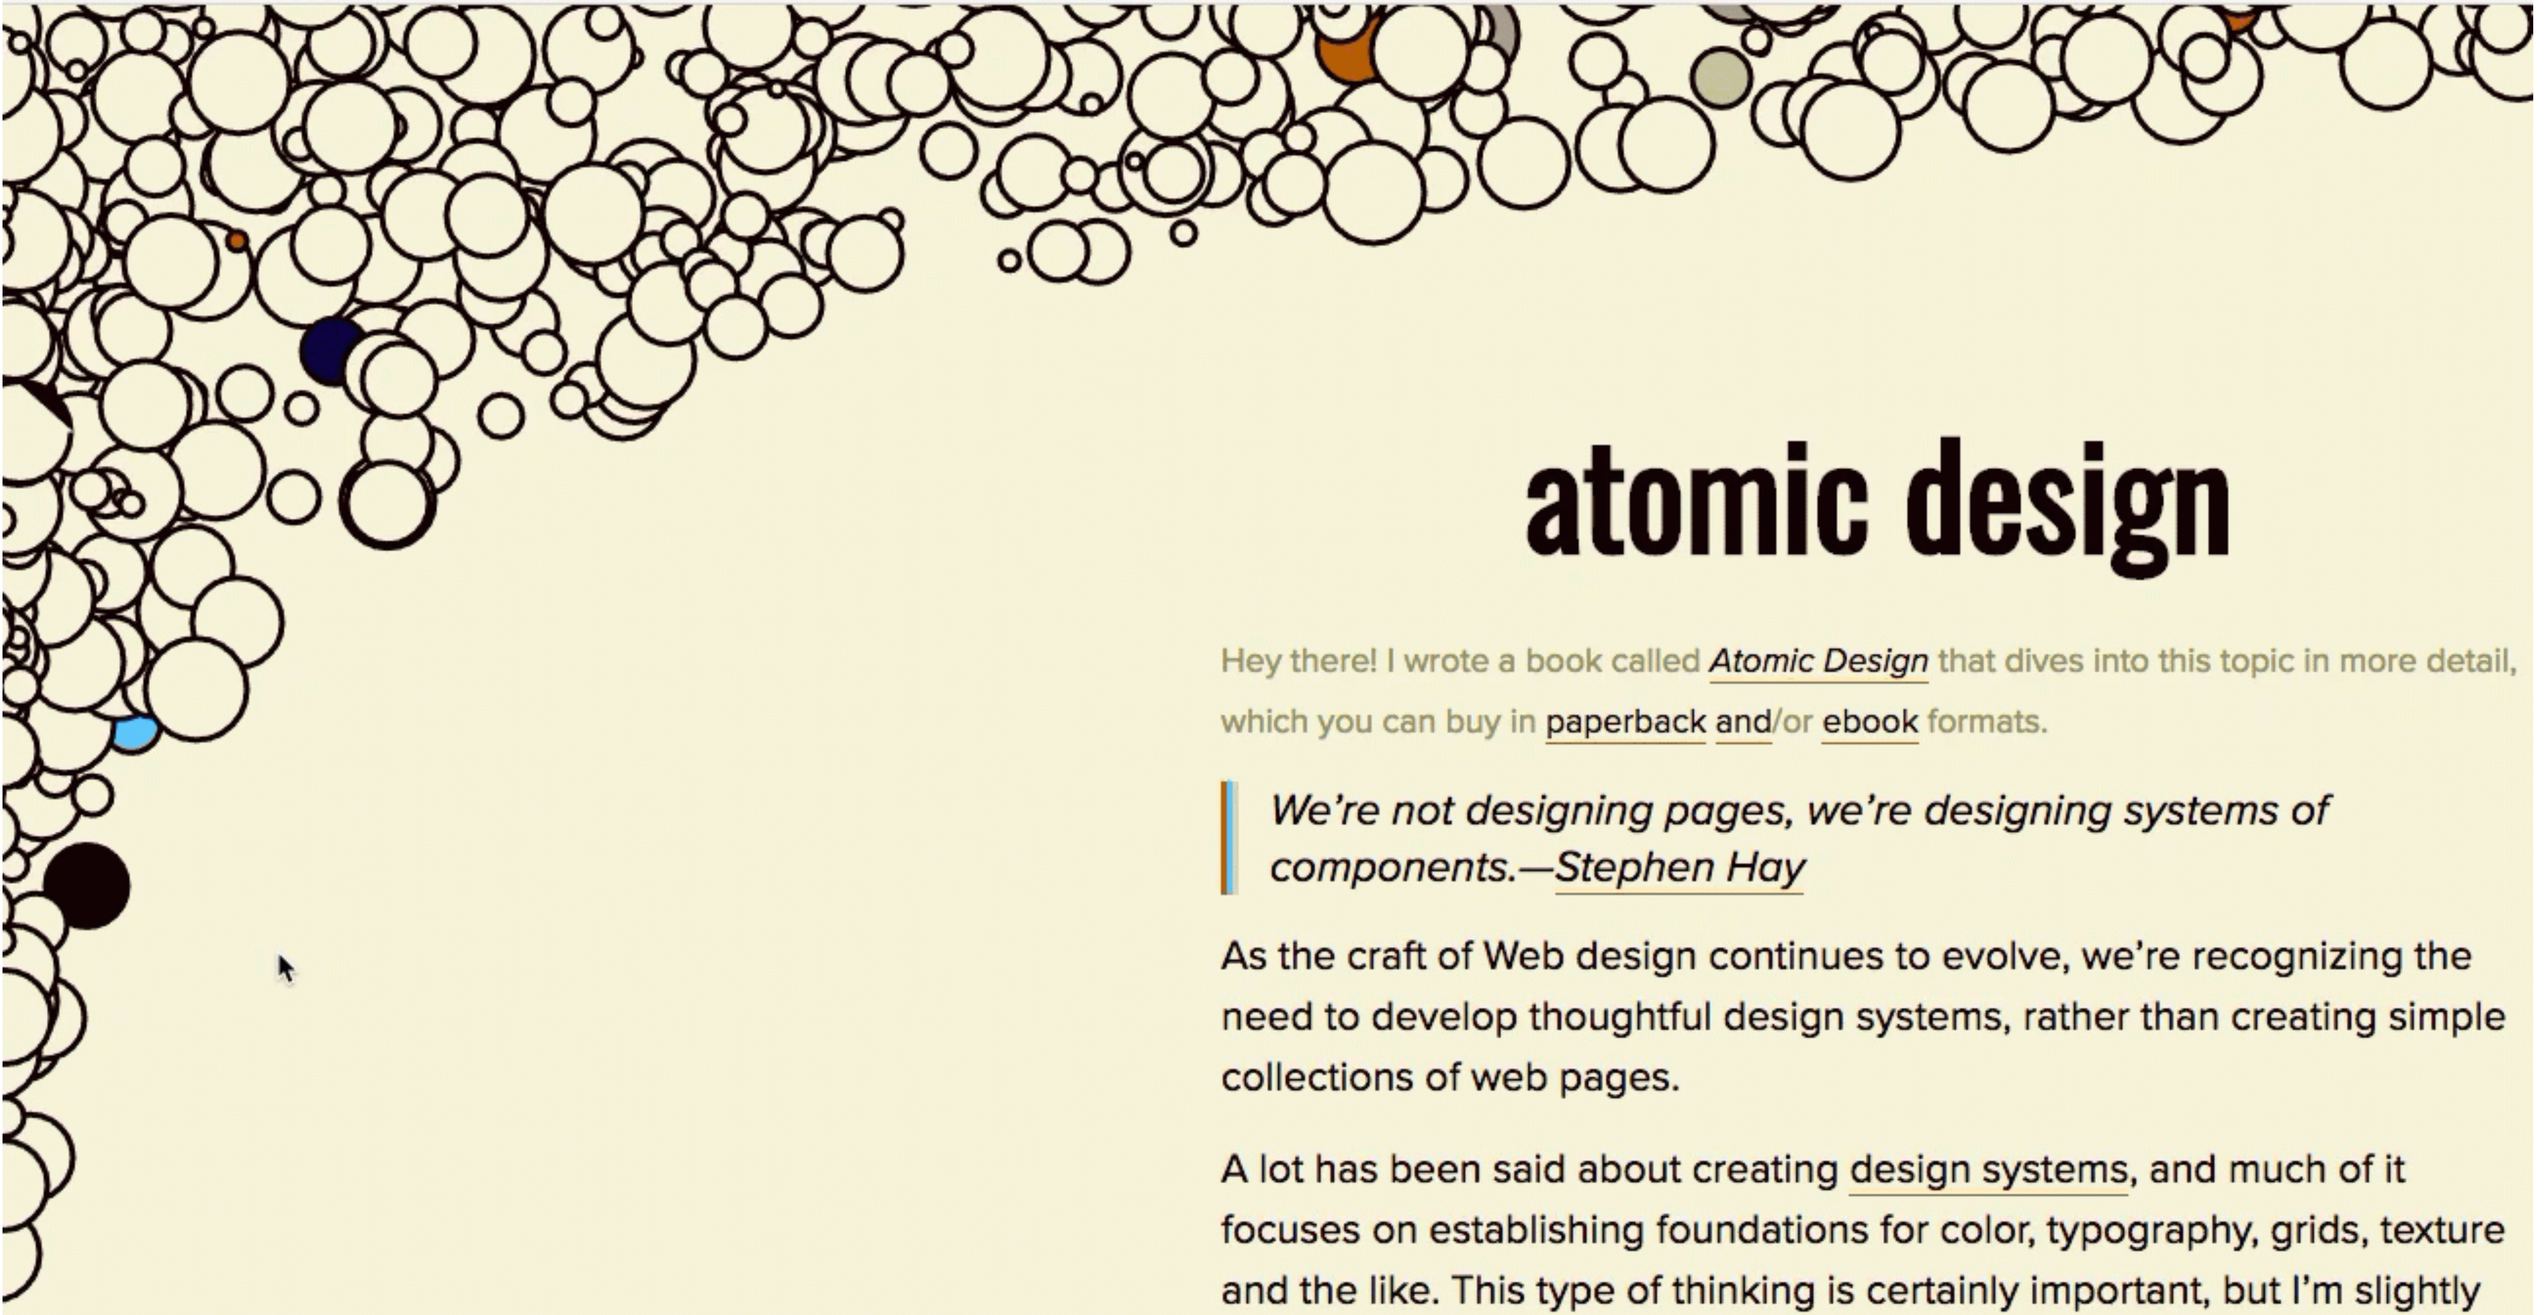
Atomic Design





atomic design

Hey there! I wrote a book called Atomic Design that dives into this topic in more detail, which you can buy in paperback and/or ebook formats.

> We're not designing pages, we're designing systems of components.—Stephen Hay

As the craft of Web design continues to evolve, we're recognizing the need to develop thoughtful design systems, rather than creating simple collections of web pages.

A lot has been said about creating design systems, and much of it focuses on establishing foundations for color, typography, grids, texture and the like. This type of thinking is certainly important, but I'm slightly less interested in these aspects of design because ultimately they are

Binder

Ties related content together. Includes a table of contents and other navigational tools that encourage users to read content in an order you set.

Learn about creating Binders.

The Binder type is good for:

- Long form reports
- Chapter books
- Collections of similarly-themed content

ADD BINDER

Curated List

Create a page of lists, which can include Documents, Form pages, and law library content. Lists can be automatically generated using labels, or you can manually compile and order content.

ADD CURATED LIST

List - Automatic *

Remove

Description Text, contains helper text and/or tech specs, Small Body Copy styling.

List Title *

The title of your list. if you have only one list, this title will not appear. If you have more than one list, it will appear as the subheader for your list on the page and as a clickable link in the contents section at the top of the page.

Sort Order *

Alphabetical

Description

Show each list item's "listing description" (if it exists) below the item's title.

Label(s) *

Select the label(s) you have applied to the items that should appear in this list. Items that have any of the labels you enter here will appear on this list. You may apply labels to Forms, Advisories, Decisions, Executive Orders, and Regulations, as well as to Documents.

What is a Service Detail page?

Service Detail pages offer information about the service they're linked to. For example, you might make a Service Detail to explain who qualifies for unemployment benefits or to give information about how to take a road test so users can get a driver's license.

Learn more about authoring Service Details.

Continue with your Service Detail tour by clicking "Next."

Title and short description

Your title and short description are especially important for search engines like Google. Try to use the same language your audience would when they search for your content with Google or Yahoo!.

Improvements with a big impact

- Listen to and ask users on what their field label and content types should be named
- Include description text on content types
- Add help text

Hide what you don’t need

- Hide fields that users don’t need to see with field_permissions or conditional_fields modules
- Hide menu items that aren’t needed for each user role

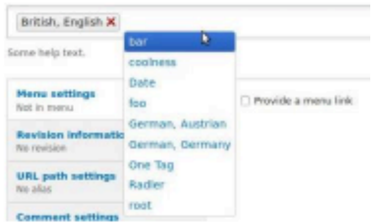
This is an enhanced autocomplete element, that uses the JQuery UI autocomplete. It will also implement a widget for taxonomy.



Features

- Combo/Select box like selecting.
- Select without entering something.
- Widget for taxaonomy
- Chosen like multiple selecting.

If you want to deny adding new terms, then checkout Chosen. It converts select boxes to autocomplete fields.

Branch 7.x-1.x isn't supported anymore.
